Program Results and Effect:

The Idaho Brand Department is a self-governing agency created and funded by the Idaho Livestock industry.

We provide to all Idaho stock growers a deterrent to theft, illegal transportation and illegal slaughter. This mission is accomplished through professional livestock identification principles and the enforcement of laws related to intrastate or interstate livestock movements. Livestock identification is achieved through a modern state of the art brand recording/registration system.

To further enhance our protection of the Idaho livestock industry, it is our priority to educate, train, and share expertise with related law enforcement agencies.

We are continuously developing on-going relationships with our neighboring brand states, striving for uniformity of laws and the sharing of information. The Idaho stock growers benefit not only from the added protection offered outside the boundaries of this state, but in the ease of interstate livestock movement and commerce.

The Idaho Brand Department collects, in conjunction with our inspection fees, various livestock assessments for other state and federal entities, such as the National Beef Check Off, Animal Disease, Predator Control and the Idaho Horse Board; reducing administration costs for all involved.
